PUBLIC SALE.

ON Friday, the 19th. October, we will sell to the highest bidder, on the premises, the one mile south of Ridgeway, on R. & G. R. R. in Warren county, the residence of the late Dr. H. L. Plummer.

PLANTATION,

The tract will be divided—one, including houses, contains 600 acres, well adapted to the growth of wheat, tobacco, corn &c., with an adequate quantity of wood land, original growth, and a larger proportion of highly improved lot land than any other farm in the county. Also, a fair proportion of bottom land on a creek, running entirely through the tract.

THE DWELLING

is a good two-story house, with 7 rooms; good cabins, with stone chimneys; excellent frame barns, good granary, stables, &c. Also, a good Orchard of Choice Winter Fruit.

The other tract, on the same road, contains 350 acres, 50 of which is good bottom land, on Fishing Creek, and sufficient wood for fences and fuel, but no house except a barn. Both tracts are in good condition. Dr. Plummer never made less than 17 bushels wheat per acre on these farms—frequently more.

The locality is as healthy and the neighborhood as refined as any in the State. It is in every respect desirable, and it is seldom such a place is offered at auction. One of the subscribers resides on the place, and will show it to any one wishing to see it. Possession will be given 1st. January, but the privilege of seeding wheat granted immediately.

We Will Also Sell

12 head fat Cattle, 20 head Sheep, 50 barrels old Corn, a good Wheat Thrasher, capable of getting out 300 bushels Wheat per day;

Two Wheat Reapers,

SOME EXCELLENT SEED WHEAT, AND OTHER ARTICLES.

TERMS—For land, one-fifth cash; the balance in equal payments of 1 and 2 years, bonds well secured, with interest from date—title held until land is paid for. Other property, cash. Sale to commence at 11 o'clock.

E. PLUMMER, R. T. ARRINGTON, } Executors.

THE SENTINEL.

Thursday Evening, Oct. 18, 1866.

Can There be Harm in Kissing?

The waters kiss the pebbly shore,
The winds all kiss the hills;
The sunbeams kiss the tulip bud,
For the odor it distills.

The dewdrops kiss the rose at morn,
The cereus dew at eve;
The fern and flower, in circling clasp,
Their mystic beauties weave.

The moonbeams kiss the clouds at night,
The star-gems kiss the sea;
While shadows dreamy, soft and light
Are kissing on the lea.

The zephyrs kiss the budding pink
That blooms on beauty's lip;
And ruder blasts, though cold and chill,
Its ruby nectar sip.

The winds, the waves, the budding flowers,
The laughing, merry rills,
Are kissing all from morn till eve,
And clouds still kiss the hills.

Even Heaven and Earth do meet to kiss
Through tears of sparkling dew.
In kissing then, can there be harm?
I don't think so—do you?

From the Louisville Journal, October 5.

George D. Prentice's Interview with Jefferson Davis---Danger of Secession at the North---A Most Timely Warning.

In the course of an interview that we had with Jefferson Davis in January, 1865, the subject of the terms of peace was introduced. Mr. Davis asked us what was the chief objection of the North to the recognition of Southern independence. We answered that the North knew perfectly well, as unquestionably as he did, that if she would lay down her arms and consent to a division of the Union into two confederacies, she herself would very soon be dissolved; that State after State, States singly and States combinedly, would secede, and the whole be split up into petty powers or no powers, all of them contemptible in the eyes of mankind, and not one of them willing or able to contribute to the payment of the national debt.

Mr. Davis replied, with characteristic calmness, this was certainly true, but that the same thing would certainly happen, and probably happen all the sooner, if the North should continue to prosecute the war. We thought at the time that Mr. Davis was greatly mistaken, and told him so. We still trust that we were correct in our estimate of the character of his opinion, but just now we can indulge no over confidence that we were. The North continued to prosecute the war, and the South, after the bravest and most desperate resistance known in war's annals, was conquered. But now come the North's trials. Now we are to see the tests of her internal strength. If, out of the dreadful war between the North and the South, a Northern civil war arises; if Northern armies march against each other, vengeance before them, and blood and death and desert behind them, many Northern States will very soon weary and sicken of the horrid work, and will probably adopt secession as the surest and quickest remedy, fully relying upon the mighty troubles and perils of the Federal government as a perfect security against coercion. Most likely the Northwestern States will go off first, repudiating, of course, their proportion of the public debt, and thus piling higher the monstrous financial burden upon the shoulders of the remaining States. These will have neither the will nor the ability to bear up under the crushing weight, and so others will secede, and then others, till the whole North shall be divided up into such poor little non-debt paying, feeble, mock nationalities, as a citizen of one of the Mexican States, or of the South American republics, or one of the petty, miserable German principalities, might look upon with contempt and scorn. Jeff. Davis's declaration to us, as to the consequences of the war to the North, if prosecuted, will be amply vindicated, and whatever resentment, if any, he cherishes against the North, will be abundantly satisfied.

We tell the Northern fanatics, as a lover of our whole country, we solemnly tell them, that unless madness has seized upon their hearts and brains, they will not insist on pushing the dissensions between the President and Congress to the fighting point. They may rest assured that if the fight comes, it will be, to them, such a one as they have no account of in either history or tradition. We say to the people of the North that a very large proportion of them have acted and are acting most unwisely, madly. Theirs is "the very error of the moon." They seem incapable of profiting either by the South's experience or their own. They imitate and follow the South in the most unhappy acts she ever committed. The South, in 1861, undertook to break up and destroy the Federal Constitution. She set at naught its provisions, and attempted to maintain her attitude of hostility to it by force of arms. She failed. As graciously as she could, she recognized the result. She bowed to the arbitrament of war, and has been using whatever power and influence she possesses in support of the Constitution she strove so fiercely and desperately to subvert and annihilate. But, lo! the Radical party of the North, claiming to be an overwhelming majority of that great section, are now violating and defying the Constitution. No sooner does the South give up rebellion than the Northern fanatics inaugurate it. It is as true that there is Northern rebellion now as that there was a Southern rebellion five years ago. Rebellion has simply changed its locality. But just as it failed in one section, it will inevitably fail in the other. It can have no other future than a future like its past—a future of blood, and humiliation, and misery.

THE POOR PRINTER.—"I pity the printer," said my uncle Toby. "He's a poor creature," rejoined Trim. "How so?" said my uncle.—"Because, in the first place," continued the corporal, looking fully upon my uncle, "because he must endeavor to please everybody. In the negligence of a moment, perhaps, a small paragraph pops upon him; he hastily throws it to the compositor; it is inserted, and he is ruined to all intents and purposes." "Too much the case, Trim," said my uncle, with a deep sigh: "too much the case." "And please your honor," continued Trim, elevating his voice, and striking into an imploring attitude, "this is not the whole." "Go on, Trim," said my uncle, feelingly. "The printer sometimes hits upon a piece that pleases him mightily and he thinks it cannot but go down with his subscribers. But alas! sir, who can calculate the human mind? He inserts it, and it is all over with him. They forgive others, but they cannot forgive a printer. He has a host to print for, and every one sets up for a critic. The pretty miss exclaims, "Why don't he give us more poetry, marriages, and bon mots? Away with these stale pieces.' The politician claps his specs on his nose, and reads it over in search of a violent invective.—He finds none, takes his specs off, folds them, and sticks them in his pocket, declaring the paper good for nothing but to burn; so it goes. Every one thinks it ought to be printed expressly for himself, as he is a subscriber; and yet, after all this complaining, would you believe it, sir," said the corporal, clapping his hands beseechingly, "would you believe it, sir, there are some subscribers who do not hesitate to cheat the printer out of his pay? Our army swore terribly in Flanders, but they never did any thing so bad as that!" "Never!" said my Uncle Toby emphatically, "Never!"

EXCHANGE OF N. C. BONDS FOR STOCKS.

STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA,
TREASURY DEPARTMENT.
Raleigh, September 27th. 1866.

The Public are reminded that, in pursuance of an Ordinance of the late Convention, sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned, until 12 M., on the first day of November next, for the exchange of the principal of bonds issued by the State before the 20th. May 1861, for the Stocks held by the State in the various Rail Roads and other Companies, of which the following are the principal:

North Carolina R. R. Co.	$3,000,000,
Raleigh & Gaston R. R. Co.	682,500,
Atlantic & N. C. R. R.	$1,066,000,
Western N. C. R. R. Co.	$1,418,000,
Albemarle and Chesapeake Canal Co.	$ 350,000,

No bid less than par will be entertained. Any premiums offered may be applied to payment of the Interest due on the bonds offered in exchange. Bids will be opened in the presence of the Governor and Comptroller, and those will be accepted most advantageous to the State.

Purchasers of preferred stock will not obtain rights greater than holders of stocks not preferred.

In consequence of the bonds and liens, held by the State on various Rail Road Companies, having been in part executed during the late war, I have concluded not to offer them for exchange until the reception of special instructions from the General Assembly.

I have deferred the time of opening bids in order that parties interested might have opportunity of examining the reports of the various Companies for the present year, which no doubt can be obtained from the proper officers of the Companies.

INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS.

Scientific men, who thoroughly understand the subject, concur with great unanimity in saying that nothing exerts such a deleterious influence against health as bad bread. The remedy is at hand in SIMPSON'S INFALLIBLE YEAST POWDERS, the value of which is thus certified:

RALEIGH, Aug. 24, 1866.

I have tested the Yeast Powders you manufacture and can recommend them as vastly superior to any other ever used by me. In addition to the lightness and sweetness of the bread, the powders are economical, as one-third the lard usually required will answer in the making of either loaf bread or biscuit. For pastries and cakes they are excellent.

VIRGINIA A. ORR.

The price of these powders per package is 25 cts. or 75 cts. per pound. To be had at Wm. Simpson's Confectionary Store, Fayetteville Street, Raleigh, N. C.

RALEIGH, Aug. 23, 1866.

This is to certify that I have used Mr. Simpson's Yeast Powders and find them to be superior to any I have ever used. After trying them once no housekeeper will be satisfied without them.

MRS. S. D. HARRISON.

The Election Returns.

We shall be obliged to our friends, all over the State, to send us the earliest election returns from the several Counties.

Granville County Fair.

Granville County is entitled to the honor of reviving the Agricultural Fairs in the South, since the war. That praise is due to Granville and to the special efforts of the people of Henderson and its vicinity. Our surroundings prevented our being present at the Fair during the entire proceedings, but, to manifest our interest and to encourage the enterprise as far as our presence could do, we spent several pleasant hours on the Fair ground at Henderson, on yesterday.

The officers and managers are entitled to great credit for the excellent arrangements made on the Fair grounds for the accommodation of exhibitors and the public. The short notice and the prostrate condition of the country led many to fear that the exhibition would be exceedingly meagre, but in this visitors will be agreeably disappointed. Most of the day, on yesterday, was employed in bringing in articles for exhibition, which continued to come in after we left. About 300 articles, many of them largely duplicated, had been entered on the list for exhibition. Among them, the specimens of needle-work, preserves, pickles, &c., in the Hall were very fine—some exhibiting great taste and ingenuity on the part of the ladies. We found our friend C. W. Westbrooks, from his nurseries in Guilford, there, with fine specimens of fruits and fruit trees. The vegetable exhibition was very superior. The variety of very fine specimens of agricultural implements, fowls, and stock of various kinds were very creditable.—The number of horses on exhibition was quite large, and some of them very good.

The number of persons present was not large, most of the people having kept back until to-day, when it was expected the crowd would be great. We found Col. Royster, the President, and his lady, the Messrs. Harris, Dr. Cheatham, Messrs. Clark, Young and others, quite active. Col. Andrews, Chief Marshal, and his assistants, were doing good service, as was also the Salisbury Brass Band, which discoursed fine music for the entertainment of the crowd. Upon the whole, we predict the Fair will pass off finely. We have the promise of a fuller account from a competent pen.

Tobacco Inspection.

The usual crop of tobacco which passes through the Virginia markets, and is set down to the credit of that noble old Commonwealth, is about 80,000 hogsheads. We are informed, by good authority, that ordinarily of the 80,000 hogsheads, 30,000 of them are the product of North Carolina. All of these have heretofore been inspected and sold in the Virginia market, and set down to the credit of that State. This is a gross wrong to North Carolina. We fully appreciate the superior markets of Lynchburg, Petersburg and Richmond for tobacco, but the injustice done to this State, by having almost our entire crop inspected as well as sold in Virginia, must be manifest to all.

The cost of inspection of the 80,000 hogsheads produced in this State, and sent to Virginia, is about $90,000 per year. Why is not this inspection done at home by reliable citizens appointed for the purpose? Is not $90,000 per year worth being kept and distributed at home? Would it not be as well, and more judicious, to have this amount paid to our own citizens, who help pay our State taxes, and who need the amount? Certainly.

We beg leave to call the attention of our citizens to this fact, and the Legislature. We have inspectors of turpentine, flour, &c., why not inspectors of tobacco and cotton also, if we have them not? While we should feel an interest in the welfare of all the citizens of other States and the Union, it is palpable that we should feel a special concern for the welfare of our neighbors and members of the same community.

TRUTH WELL EXPRESSED.—The Richmond Examiner (which, by the way, under its new management, is conducted with much ability, and discretion,) utters the following wholesome truths:

"A fable of Æsop inculcates its moral not more plainly than our story. Having trusted others and been deceived—having hoped for aid from others and been disappointed—let us henceforward rely upon ourselves. Let us cease to expect great things from the magnanimity, the sense of justice, the attachment to the constitution of the North.

Doubtless we have many friends and well-wishers in that section, and whenever and wherever we meet honest and loyal friendship we should recognise and appreciate it. But we must not count too much upon its ability to help us. Let us concentrate our energies upon our own resources; labor steadily to promote our own material interests, and be guided by our own sense of duty and right. Doing this we may be oppressed, but we shall never be degraded. Our patience may be tried, but our manhood will be unimpaired."

EXACTLY SO.—The London Times has come to the conclusion that the recent civil war in the United States has revolutionized our form of government, and that henceforth, instead of being a government of limited, it will be one of unlimited powers.

This is the conclusion to which every man is forced to come. There is no doubt in the world that we are living under a government whose policy is dictated by a minority of the people, and whose Constitution has been so often and so flagrantly violated that it has ceased to command the respect of any class. We may as well make the best of our circumstances. The Northern people freed the negroes but enslaved the whites of the South, and destroyed their own government.—Richmond Dispatch.

The Dead of the Past—Interesting Memorials.

"Each within his narrow cell forever laid,
The rude forefathers of the hamlet sleep."

The Richmond Whig has, of late, been presenting to its readers the inscriptions on the monuments in Shockoe Hill Cemetery, accompanied by notes of its own. We have thought that it would be a feature of local, and even of State interest, to borrow the excellent idea of our respected cotemporary, and to furnish similar brief occasional sketches of the venerated dead who sleep within the narrow precincts of our city grave-yard, and who were persons of mark and merit in their lives. Many good men and women sleep there, whose memories are very dear to this community, and the light of whose example survives the darkness of the tomb,—many who, "being dead, yet speaketh." We begin, without further preface, with some of those who were longest identified with the interests and people of Raleigh, and who lived to a serene and honored old age:

"In memory of WILLIAM POLK, born in the county of Mecklenburg, July 6, 1758; departed this life in the city of Raleigh, Jan. 11, 1830, aged 75 years, 6 months and five days: A gallant soldier throughout the war by which the independence of his country was established; a pure and noble patriot, inflexible in his integrity; firm in friendship, and true and warm in each social affection. He possessed, while living, the respect and attachment of all who knew him, and left an affectionate veneration for his character deeply impressed on the hearts of his widow and children, who have caused this monument to be erected."

Col. Polk belongod to a class of men that seems to have almost passed away. Of commanding presence, great decision of manner, as well as of character, and lofty ideas of manliness and personal esteem, which he illustrated in all his intercourse with the world, he would have made his mark in any age or any country. He possessed, in a remarkable degree, the faculty of governing and controlling men, and many interesting reminiscences exist of his success in this respect, and of his firmness of disposition, added to great kindliness of nature. He was present in Charlotte, on the 20th day of May, 1775, when Mecklenburg declared its independence of the British Government, and, as stated on the inscription, served in the army through the war of the Revolution,—having been wounded both at the battle of Germantown and that of Eutaw Springs. He held several public positions, at various times, and was equal to all that he ever undertook. He was the father of the noble and lamented Bishop Polk, Lieut-General of the Confederate States Army, and of several other children, one of whom, Mrs. Kenneth Rayner, still resides at the old ancestral mansion, in the north-eastern portion of the city, which tradition describes as having been, for many years, the seat of the most elegant and refined hospitality.

"To the memory of JOSEPH GALES, an Englishman by birth, but for a period of nearly forty years a citizen of Raleigh. Born Feb. 4, 1761; died Aug. 24th. 1841."

Many of our citizens, now living, will remember the stirring energy, the cheerful presence, the lithe step, and the active benevolence of Joseph Gales. He was born in Derbyshire, in England, was a bookseller and printer by profession, and for several years published the "Sheffield Register," a newspaper of unparalleled circulation at that day. The sweet Christian poet, Montgomery, was an apprentice in this office, and always retained an affectionate veneration and attachment for his patron and friend. Mr. Gales was compelled to flee from England to avoid political persecution, and, in 1794, came to the United States and settled in Philadelphia, where he published, for a period, the "Independent Gazette." He was the first stenographic reporter ever known in this country, and reported the celebrated speech of Fisher Ames on the Jay Treaty, with which report that gentleman was so well pleased that he presented Mr. Gales with the sum of $50—a god-send to the expatriated printer, who, with a large family, was dependent upon each day's work for his daily bread. In 1799, Mr. Gales removed to Raleigh, and established the "Register," which he conducted for nearly forty years. He was for many years Public Printer to the State and Mayor of the City of Raleigh, and was universally esteemed for his public spirit, his devotion to the interests of the community and of the State, and his amiability and goodness of character. His wife, the late Winifred Marshal Gales, whom he survived for two years, was one of the most remarkable women of her day. She published several volumes, principally of fiction, and left behind her a number of valuable manuscripts now in the possession of her descendants.

In the State library, there is a volume labelled "Corruption," which is made up of a number of copies of newspapers, published in the interest of the Crown of England, containing marked articles. These papers, with the articles thus marked, were sent to Mr. Gales, with directions to publish in the "Sheffield Register." His refusal to do so, together with his earnest sympathy with the Reform movement then sweeping over England and France, were the causes that compelled him to leave his native country,—crossing the channel at night and by stealth, and sojourning in Holland for a year, until his family could follow him. Many years after, in this city, he had the papers bound and labelled as above described. He maintained, through life, the same principles of Republicanism that had led to his persecution and expatriation.

He was the father of Joseph Gales, of the "National Intelligencer," and of Weston R. Gales, who succeeded him in the "Register."

"The Rev. WILLIAM MCPHEETERS, D. D. Born in Augusta County, Virginia, Sept. 28, 1778. Died in this City Nov. 7th, 1842. For forty years a minister of the Presbyterian Church. "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord."

The Presbyterian Church in Raleigh stands an enduring monument to the usefulness, the earnest piety, the unaffected Christian simplicity and unselfishness of this venerable man of God. Many persons of pretty-well advanced years in various parts of the State will remember him well, and many were doubtless, at one time, pupils of his, for be long and successfully "taught the young idea how to shoot." These could give interesting reminiscences of his indomitable will and determination, tempered with the most exact ideas of justice and with exceeding kindness of heart as well. He was, if tradition speaks truly, a firm believer in the efficacy of birch and in the wise man's proverb that "he who spares the rod spoils the child." The largest offenders, knowing his decision and stern sense of duty, stood in as much terror of the practical consequences of his displeasure, as the smallest boy in school; and well they might, for he made no distinctions when the law scholastic was violated. He was for many years Principal of the old Raleigh Academy,—a famous institution in its day, which turned out many useful men and women, who have since "done the State some service."

Dr. McPheeters was indefatigable in his holy calling, and illustrated the precepts of the Gospel by his walk and conversation. His memory is fragrant among the descendants of the congregation in this City, which he so long and acceptably served. We venture the assertion that our older citizens rarely enter the precincts of the Presbyterian Church without recalling his venerable form and strongly marked features, as he once stood and ministered in its pulpit.

In his latter years he was tried by a painful and terrible disease, which demanded several surgical operations. He died, as he had lived, a model Minister and a model gentleman "of the old school."

Correspondence of the Sentinel.

STATESVILLE, N. C., Oct. 17, 1866.

The Superior Court of Iredell County is being held here this week, his Honor Judge Buxton presiding.

The usual sad routine of crime is on docket, with the usual prevalence of freedmen among the defendants. There is a capital case to be put on trial on Friday, involving the lives of Mr. Dula and a female accomplice.

The bar is quite an able one. Gov. Vance and Col. Johnson are here from Charlotte.—Nath. R. Boyden and Burton Craige are in attendance.

Very little is said about elections, every man seeming to feel uncertain about our relations to the general government, and therefore uncertain whether to vote at all.

Statesville, like the rest of our towns, has suffered serious stagnation from the war. Prior to the war, its prospects were fine and the spirit of improvement had fairly set in, but all was arrested, and it is only by powerful efforts that anything can be done in the way of building. Still, its progress compares well with other country towns throughout the State.

The "Concord Female College," located here, is progressing finely for the times. It has between fifty and sixty boarders and a full corps of teachers under the presidency of Rev. J. M. M. Caldwell, of Ga.

The locality of this college is proverbial for its healthfulness; and it stands upon an eminence that commands a view of an immense scope of country. From the observatory, on the top of the college, several distant points of considerable note can be distinctly seen. The Pilot Mountain, in Surry County, some forty miles distant, can be seen rearing its symmetrical column of three hundred feet perpendicularly towards the heavens, as regularly shaped as masonry.

The Table Rock, seventy miles distant, in the County of Burke, can be plainly seen, as also the famous Mount Mitchell, in Buncombe County, about one hundred miles distant. Let it be remembered that Mount Mitchell is the highest point East of the Rocky Mountains and my story will not seem incredulous.

LIME.

Maj. Wilson, formerly of this place, is now largely engaged in making lime near Catawba Station, on the Western N. C. R. R., for farming and for other purposes. The material from which it is made is abundant, and the supply can equal the demands of a very large section of our country.

Those who understand the use of lime, as a fertilizer, and appreciate its value, will welcome this article to the market. The Valley of Virginia is one continuous formation of limestone, which, by the process of disintegration, supplies the soil with lime. But the agriculturists there are not satisfied with this, but, witnessing the effect of lime upon the wheat, they burn the limestone, and sow it abundantly upon their wheat fields and pastures. The consequence is that that country is famous, far and wide, for its grain and grass. Yet I question whether they get their lime as low as Maj. Wilson furnishes it,—thirteen dollars a ton, delivered at any depot on the N. C. Railroad, Goldsboro not expected.

Lime is admirably adapted to the growth of wheat, and now is the time to use it, or it can be sown upon the surface of wheat fields in the Spring. It makes the finest of wheat.

But lime is equally good for grasses. It is sown, broadcast, upon grass pastures in Spring, and makes the most luxuriant timothy, blue grass and clover.

I never knew the value of grasses until I saw the culture and use of it in the Counties West of the Blue Ridge. It is the foundation of wealth. An abundance of grass affords the means of raising perhaps more and better things than any other one thing; and few things will give more or better grass than lime. And at Maj. Wilson's price five tons of lime can be bought for the same money that is paid for one ton of guano. Farmers, look at this calculation. For building purposes it costs about half as much as Northern lime.

"MARBLE."

No great distance from here, over in Catawba, near the line of the Western North Carolina Railroad, is a quarry of very fine marble, a sample of which I send you. It is susceptible of high polish. It is being worked by Steele & Sugg, near Catawba Station, in every desired form, tomb stones, furniture pieces, painter's grinding plates, etc. etc. No man in N. C., who has use for a piece of marble, for mantel pieces or any other purpose, need send abroad for it. It is here in abundance, and can be transported to any point; and a more accommodating and prompt set of Railroad officers than those of the Western North Carolina Railroad I have yet to find.

President Tate informs me that he has just returned from a tour by which he has not only succeeded in reducing the tariff of freights, but he has gotten it below any other route by which goods can be gotten to or from Western North Carolina. This will tell upon the R. & G. and N. C. R. R. transportation from Norfolk and Wilmington by another season.

There has always been a difference of opinion as to the wisest course to be pursued in the matter of charges for freight and passage,—which is best, a high or low tariff. But if we may derive rules from those who have succeeded, we certainly would be wise in copying from those sections where low tariffs have been adopted.

It costs three dollars to go from Philadelphia to New York, nearly a hundred miles. Our Southern roads usually charge about double this rate. True, the New York and Philadelphia Railroad Company has twenty-five or fifty passengers to our one. But there was a time when it was not so; and they have arrived at their present success by wise management.

But the traveller is not only deterred from travelling by the price of railroad tickets, but also by the high rates of hotel charges. When the war closed provision was scarce and high, and it was reasonable to charge four dollars a day for board. It was indispensable. But when produce went down and facilities for hotel keeping increased, hotel keepers refused to lower their rates. Now, a man can stay but a very short time at a hotel, because of heavy drain upon his purse. Especially is this trying, when a poor little hotel, with the most meagre bill of fare, takes advantage of the regular hotel charges and demands as much as the first class house.

It is an easier thing to pay a high price at such a hotel as your very excellent "Exchange," than at some places. You will go over North Carolina in vain in search of a better hotel than Raleigh can now boast of, in the hands of J. M. Blair & Co. But three or four dollars a day is a great deal for eating and sleeping any where.

The writer must not be supposed to be complaining, but he yields to no man in a deeper wish to see the tide of prosperity set in once more, and he believes that one of the speediest and surest routes to this is to place facilities within the reach of men who have business to call them from one point to another.

"GOLD."

There is a great deal of gold hunting in the upper counties of North Carolina. There are many strangers here searching for it. They slip by Raleigh so quietly that they are unknown; but they are here in every direction. To-day the President of the Shuford mines passed up the Railroad on a tour to the "diggins," not far West of this place. He is from Nova Scotia, and "pretty stiff," they say, in means. I learn that seventy five thousand dollars have been expended by the company, and they are well enough pleased to spend more. Handsome yields have been realized.

Yours truly,
ITINERANT.

THE AMAZON BASIN.

Lecture by Professor Agassiz.

The first lecture by Prof. Agassiz, on the Natural Features of the Amazon Basin, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, was given on Tuesday evening, at Tremont Temple, Boston, before a large and highly intelligent audience. He prefaced his lecture by expressing his obligations to Nathaniel Thayer, Esq., who defrayed all the expenses of his trip to the Amazon, and paid the salaries of six assistants; to the steamship company which carried him free to Brazil; to the United States naval officers and the United States Minister at Rio, who cheerfully obeyed the orders of the government, and rendered him all the service in their power. He was met by a most friendly message of welcome from the Emperor of Brazil on his arrival at Rio, treated with the utmost hospitality, and all the means of transportation he could wish for in the prosecution of his researches placed at his disposal by the Emperor, who also sent an engineer who had surveyed the Amazon and its tributaries, and was familiar with its characteristics and the leading points of interest, to assist him in his researches. On reaching Para, one of the finest steamers of the Amazonian Steamship Company was placed at his disposal for one month, and at the end of that time a Brazilian war steamer was devoted to his service, and so continued till he had ended his investigations.—These unusual facilities enabled him to collect and transport specimens in such numbers and of such size as he could not have done under any other circumstances. He experienced no danger or discomfort, and very few travellers ever enjoyed such facilities. This unbounded liberality on the part of the Brazilian government was more striking from the fact that while the country was under the control of the Portuguese, the great Humboldt was forbidden to traverse the empire, lest he should spread doctrines pernicious to society and religion!

The Boston Post says:

"Passing to consider the waters of the Amazon, the speaker said that the country was so different from any we are familiar with or heard of, so peculiar in its physical condition, that it deserved to be carefully examined as a specimen of tropical nature in Africa or Asia. In the first place the whole Amazon region is a vast plain. There are no hills interrupting this immense expanse of woods and water. Only in the middle and lower course of the river is there a range of low hills. The Professor here explained by means of maps the various localities, names of tributary rivers, and other facts connected with the subject designed to illustrate the immense space covered with water, owing to the little slope from the Andes and the wonderful net-work of rivers. The valley of the Amazon extends from west to east five degrees south of the line. The length of the valley is 2,000 miles; width about 1,200 miles; the source of the river 4,000 miles from its mouth; and the whole of this space is a plain, sloping from the Andes to the Atlantic. Over a length of 3,000 miles the slope is only 210 feet. Therefore, the Amazon valley cannot be compared to ordinary river valleys. Within this vast expanse are several rivers longer than any of our Atlantic rivers, hardly known even by name.—There are great lakes having communication with the Amazon, and, in fact, the interior is a vast fresh water ocean moving upon an inclined plain. There are spaces of water so wide that the opposite shores cannot be seen. The Amazon swells in three different ways. In October snow begins to melt at the foot of the Andes; the rise advances by degrees, but it is not until March that it is felt in the lower waters, and it is highest in June. It takes from October to June to swell, and that time for the water from the Andes to reach the ocean. That is not the principal source of the rise. A swelling from the southern part takes place in the rainy months, beginning in September. In October all the rivers on the right side begin to swell.

The rainy season on the northern side begins in March, and it is not until May that the river begins to swell. The combined action of all this is that the main stream increases in bulk from October to June, and falls again from June to October. The rise is never less than thirty feet, and is frequently fifty. The result may be imagined in a country where the highest inequalities of surface are from fifty to sixty and seventy five feet. There are times, it may be said, that the whole land is under water, and when the forest is actually navigable. You can sail through the forests in every direction, and the Indians have an expression signifying "boat-path." You may go on a large river or a small river, on a boat-path of considerable dimensions or so narrow that all the boat can do is to proceed amidst the dark vegetation. The whole surface not occupied by water is primitive forest, and it is almost impossible to penetrate through the dense vegetation. There is a variety in the vegetation which is wonderful.—The waters of the main stream are turbid, somewhat like a mixture of coffee with a large amount of milk, and they carry along an immense amount of sediment which subsides the moment the water is still. The mouth of the Amazon where it enters the ocean is 160 miles wide, and it is all fresh water. The turbid waters can be seen long before the land is visible, and it is maintained fifty miles beyond its mouth. All the great rivers which flow into the Amazon from the high mountains share in this color; but, on the contrary, all the rivers however large, which rise in the woody plain, are black, containing in solution a large amount of vegetable substance. Notwithstanding the amount of black water poured into the Amazon, it does not become black. There is no other water system in the world like this. You may compare the Mississippi, the St. Lawrence, or the large rivers of France and Asia with the Amazon, but all are rivers which receive a limited amount of supply from their headwaters or from the headwaters of their tributaries, and they do not drain such an immense extent of land as does the Amazon—a basin 2,000 miles long and about 1,200 miles wide.

The climate of this region is most delightful. It is by no means hot, by no means unbearable as the deserts of Africa or the regions of Asia. By reason of the trade winds and the character of the land, the Amazon running from West to East to the Atlantic, a cool breeze goes up river all the time, so that the average temperature is 84 deg. The maximum temperature of the whole region is 92—the lowest 72 deg. The average depression of the thermometer during the rainy season is 73 deg., so that the changes of temperature are as much as 15 deg. the maximum not being more than 90 deg., nor the minimum below 75 deg., and a fresh breeze being felt every evening very sensibly. The circumstances of climate would, therefore, render it one of the most pleasant and desirable tropical regions, but no country has a worse administration, owing to the government of the provinces and the mode of life of the inhabitants. Young men who have no experience in government are generally sent as governors, and owing to their ambition and other reasons, they consider it a place from which they desire to get away as soon as possible, and they misrepresent the country. The Professor said that when he expressed a desire to enter that region he was warned that he was running into a region of death, but there were no dangers and hardly any discomforts to be met with. After referring to the superior water communications with every part of the valley, the speaker mentioned another difficulty in regard to the region was that the people were indolent, with no ideas of improving the land. The Indians have been made almost slaves to the few white men. This country might be made a Paradise, so rich is it in natural productions, and immense wealth is to be obtained there. Twenty millions of men could live there with more of the facilities which we enjoy by developing that which has hardly yet been brought to market. A better future for the country could not be conceived than for some of our Eastern lumber men to explore the forests, which are full of timber in such exquisite variety that we have no idea of such richness At a provincial exhibition in Para, there was exhibited a collection of 117 different kinds of costly timber gathered from a piece of land half a mile square. And yet in the whole Amazon region, over an extent of country two thousand miles in length and twelve hundred wide, there is not one saw-mill. Large trees are cut down and chopped off with a hatchet in the form of a hoe to make a plank one inch in thickness. There is a want of skill and sagacity in the population.

The Amazon is still a closed country, but is soon to be opened to the commerce of the world. One of the great features of the Amazon, which is very remarkable, is that the immense river has no delta for which other great rivers are remarkable. Yet it carries an immense amount of mud—more than any other stream. This was owing, the Professor said, to a very singular combination of circumstances, which he had not quite unravelled; but one thing was certain—that the ocean encroaches upon the continent and at a fearful rate. This encroachment has gone on for ages like the receding of Niagara Falls from Lake Ontario towards Lake Erie, and three to four hundred miles of the outline has already disappeared from before the present mouth of the river.—The fact of the encroachment is unmistakable, whether owing to the softness of the material upon which it works or by the subsiding of the land in addition to the direct action of the sea, he was unable to say. The Professor treated at some length upon the geographical character of the river valley in connection with the theory of encroachment of the ocean upon the land, and concluded his address by expressing his appreciation of the very valuable assistance he had received from Major Contino, a Brazilian engineer, who for twelve years had been exploring the valley of the Amazon and surveying some of its waters, so that the lecturer had only, as it were, to reach out and take up the information which had been gathered.

THE SENTINEL.

Thursday Evening, Oct. 18, 1866.

CITY AND STATE ITEMS.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS: Auction on Saturday, at Towles' sale rooms. Also, mountain cheese and butter at the same place.

Capt. W. E. Peirce makes an announcement to cotton planters.

THE ELECTION is progressing quietly. Up to the time of going to press, only about 250 votes had been polled in this city.

BASE BALL.—The match game between the "Pioneer" and "Tar-Heel" Clubs of this city has been arranged for Friday, Nov. 2nd. It will take place on Nash Square at an hour to be hereafter designated. This friendly trial of skill will doubtless attract a crowd of spectators and will increase the interest already manifested in this city in the manly sport of base-ball.

HENDERSON.—We are glad to find this village looking up, and in an apparently improving condition. We observed, on yesterday, several fine residences recently put up or improved, and contiguous to it several handsome villas. Rents are high there, which shows a demand for more building. A fine tobacco factory of brick is going up and we learn there are others in contemplation. The lands in that section are desirable, and we learn that, at the sale of an old homestead, within a few miles of Henderson, a day or two ago, the lands, ordinary and somewhat worn, were sold at $14 per acre.

GENERAL NEWS.

The New York Times of Monday publishes a letter written by Raymond on the 17th of July, in which it is apparent that Raymond played the traitor and spy in Philadelphia. The fact will occasion no surprise, but that R. should have published the evidence, argues a degree of stupidity not generally ascribed to him.

It is said that the Base Ball Clubs of the United States contemplate a National Organization, for the promotion of public interest in their spot, settling its rules, &c.

We nominate for permanent President Parson Brownlow. He is, without question, the basest bawler in the country.—Petersburg Index.

In Newark, N. J., recently, a neatly dressed colored man saved a white female from being run over by a locomotive. He snatched her up in his arms and took her to a place of safety, whereupon she berated him roundly for putting his hands upon her.

A large number of grazing horses have died in Illinois from a disease reported to have been caused by the grasshoppers, which being taken into the mouth, bite the tongues of the animals and make them so sore they will not eat thereafter, and starve to death.

A young Englishman, who had been eking out a wretched existence in New York city by begging from door to door, and sleeping on the City Hall steps or among the docks, was a few days since informed of the death of a titled relative in the old country, by which he is left heir to nearly $50,000.

"Can't pass, Marm," said a stern sentinel of the navy-yard to an officer's "lady." "But, sir, I must pass; I'm Captain W.'s "lady," was the reply. "Can't help it, marm—couldn't let you in if you were his wife."

"I honor the man who shovels dirt, but despise the man who eats it." A very good sentiment put into the mouth of a man who holds a Federal office. The Southern States may take the hint, and eat no more dirt in the way of Constitutional amendments.

A private secretary of the late President writes that Mr. Lincoln "composed somewhat slowly and with care, making few erasures or corrections, and, indeed, being quite tenacious of forms of expression which he had once adopted. It was then his custom to read his manuscript over aloud, 'to see how it sounded, as he could hardly judge of a thing by merely reading it.'"

General Santa Anna travels about New York dressed in full Mexican General rig, with a dozen gold medals dangling on his breast, and reiterating to everybody he meets his achievements in 1839 when he drove the French from his land.

A CHANCE FOR MAXIMILIAN.—A Paris journal declares that there is possibility of the abdication of the Emperor of Austria in favor of his son, six years old. In that case Maximilian, who has been expected by his brother Francis Joseph, for the last six months, would immediately leave Mexico, and be appointed Regent of the Austrian Empire.

A plank has just been brought to New York from California, which is believed to be the largest ever seen in the United States. It measures twelve feet long, eight feet four inches wide and it is three feet thick.

A Cincinnati capitalist proposes to buy out the city of Norfolk, provided the present inhabitants will leave. So says the Old Dominion.

MAXIMILIAN STILL TELEGRAPHING.—A dispatch from New Orleans says:

Dispatches are still passing over the cable line between Maximilian and the Emperor of France. The last one sent this week, from this city, where it was received from Mexico, cost nearly $10,000 in currency, the cash being furnished promptly by Max's agent.

MANUFACTURE OF NEEDLE GUNS AND CANNON IN CONNECTICUT.—The Hartford "Times" understands that Colt's Patent Firearms Manufacturing Company have received an order for the manufacture of a thousand needle guns, conforming in all respects to the famous needle-gun of Prussia. The company have also an order for the production of one hundred revolving cannon, at a cost of $100,000.

LINE OFFICERS.—The list of line officers in the regular army regiments has been completed, and will be sent into the Secretary of War tomorrow. The appointments will then be made subject to the examinations prescribed by law. The list has been made up at General Grant's headquarters by selecting those applicants who present the best military record.

An asylum for Confederate orphans is to be established in Tennessee, near Clarksville.—Donations have poured in liberally from all quarters, one from Missouri being $2,500. Mrs. Marion May, wife of Hon. G. A. May, is the president of the association which set this enterprise on foot, and she and those joined with her in the work are untiring in their industry. This asylum is not merely for the orphans of Tennessee, but of the whole South. It is said that it will be soon ready to receive inmates. It deserves the amplest encouragement.

TO TEACHERS.

The Trustees of the Oxford Female Academy desire to make arrangements with a competent teacher, to take charge of that institution, at the close of the present year. It is pleasantly situated in the town of Oxford, in one of the most healthful sections of the State; it has been in successful operation for more than fifty years, and has perhaps educated more young ladies than any other similar institution in the State.

The trustees will make liberal terms with a competent teacher, who can come well recommended.

Applications will be received until the 10th. day of November next, when a choice will be made.

WHO CAN TELL

How much suffering comes from Diseased Livers?—Let parents read the following, and remember that these Pills are safe for the most delicate ladies:

Wm. Carraway, Esq., Wayne Co., N. C. (Sept. 1, 1862, says: "I have used the Southern Hepatic Pills in my family. My daughter was in very bad health from disorder of the liver for the space of three years, hardly having had a week without suffering. She took the Pills regularly and strictly according to the directions on the wrapper, and her health has been entirely restored by them. I have used them with great benefit among my servants on the plantation, and can recommend them as a safe and useful family medicine."

For sale by the Druggists. Directions accompany each box. Sent to any part of the United States for $3 a dozen. Address,

A New and Grand Epoch in Medicine!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the stereotyped nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so-called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggil's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box full taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble, it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is announced that Maggiel's Billious, Dyspeptic and Diarrhoea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin, Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 11 Pine St., New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box.

DOCTOR GARDNER.

Principal Office, 84 West Fortieth street, New York For reference, Testimonials, &c., send for a CIRCULAR.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

The Louisville Journal says: "The testimonials which Dr. Gardner presents to the public could never have been obtained, except by the display of great skill and learning in his profession. One thing especially commendable in the Doctor's practice is, that he will not attempt an incurable disease for the sake of a fee, but frankly tells the patient whether he can be cured or not. We cheerfully recommend Dr. Gardner to the attention of all our friends who may be suffering from diseases of the eye or ear.

The Richmond Times says: We have no hesitation in saying that Dr. Gardner is the most scientific and successful eye and ear Surgeon in this country.

"We feel justified in recommending Doctor Gardner to those suffering from diseases of the eye and ear."—Richmond Whig.

"We can safely and cordially recommend Dr. Gardner, who will fulfill all he undertakes to perform."—Baltimore Clipper.

The New Orleans True Delta says: "We can safely recommend Dr. Gardner as a successful operator on the eye and ear. He will not undertake to treat a case unless a cure can be effected.

The Wheeling Register says: "Dr. Gardner is one of the most successful Oculists and Aurists in the country. We advise those suffering from the diseases of the eye and ear to consult him."

By this practical illustration of the advantages of Life Insurance, it is commended to the confidence and support of every one desirous of providing for surviving loved ones.

As an investment merely, a Life Insurance Policy is as safe an investment of funds as can be made.—The principal, generally, is not only many times in excess of the amount paid, but in a sound company it has no rival for security, and no species of Government bonds are a more desirable investment.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

FOR THE RAPID CURE OF

Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease.

So wide is the field of its usefulness and so numerous are the cases of its cures, that almost every section of country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried, its superiority over every other expectorant is too patent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs that are incident to our climate. While many inferior remedies thrust upon the community have failed and been discarded, this has gained friends by every trial, conferred benefits on the afflicted they can never forget, and produced cures too numerous and too remarkable to be forgotten.

We can only assure the public, that its quality is carefully kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do for their relief all that it has ever done.

Great numbers of Clergymen, Physicians, Statesmen, and eminent personages, have lent their names to certify the unparalleled usefulness of our remedies, but space here will not permit the insertion of them. The Agents below named furnish gratis our American Almanac in which they are given; with also full descriptions of the complaints they cure.

Those who require an alterative medicine to purify the blood will find AYER'S COMP. EXT. SARSAPARILLA the remedy to use. Try it once, and you will know its value.

SOMETHING NEW

UNDER THE SUN.

A New Era In Medicine!

Let the Suffering and Diseased read the following.

Let all who have been given up by Doctors, and spoken of as incurable, read the following.

Let all who can believe facts and can have faith in evidence, read the following:

Know all men by these presents, That on this, the Twentieth day of June, in the year of our Lord, One Thousand Eight Hundred and Sixty-Six, personally came Joseph Haydock to me, known as such, and being duly sworn, deposed as follows: That he is the sole general agent for the United States, and dependencies thereof, for preparations or medicines known as MAGGIEL'S PILLS and SALVE, and that the following certificates are verbatim copies to the best of his knowledge and belief.

June 1, 1866.

DR. MAGGIEL:—I take my pen to write you of my great relief and that the awful pain in my side has left me at last—thanks to your medicine. Oh, doctor, how thankful I am that I can get some sleep. I can never write it enough. I thank you again and again, and am sure that you are really the friend of all sufferers. I could not help writing to you, and hope you will not take it amiss.

JAMES MYERS, 116 Avenue D.

This is to certify that I was discharged from the army with Chronic Diarrhœa, and have been cured by Dr. Maggiel's Pills.

WILSON HARVEY, 27 Pitt Street.

New York, April 7, 1865.

The following is an interesting case of a man employed in an Iron Foundry, who, in pouring melted iron into a flask that was damp and wet, caused an explosion. The melted iron was thrown around and on him in a perfect shower, and he was burnt dreadfully. The following certificate was given to me by him about eight weeks after the accident.

New York, Jan. 11, 1866.

My name is Jacob Hardy; I am an Iron Founder; I was badly burnt by hot iron in November last; my burns healed, but I had a running sore on my leg that would not heal; I tried Maggiel's Salve, and it cured me in a few weeks. This is all true, and any body can now see me at Jackson's Iron Works, 2nd Avenue.

J. HARDY, 119 Goerck Street.

Extract from Various Letters:

"I had no appetite; Maggiel's Pills gave me a hearty one."

"Your Pills are marvelous."

"I send for another box, and keep them in the house."

"Dr. Maggiel has cured my headache that was chronic."

"I gave half of one of your pills to my babe for cholera morbus. The dear little thing got well in a day."

"My nausea of a morning is now cured."

"Your box of Maggiel's Salve cured me of noises in the head. I rubbed some of your Salve behind my ears and the noise left."

"Send me two boxes; I want one for a poor family."

"I enclose a dollar; your price is twenty-five cents, but the medicine to me is worth a dollar."

"Send me five boxes of your pills."

"Let me have three boxes of your Salve by return mail."

I have over 200 such Testimonals

As this, but want of space compels me to conclude

EXECUTOR'S SALE OF

DESIRABLE DWELLING, NICE TOWN

LOTS, AND A TRACT OF LAND

Near Warrenton, N.C.

As executor of Dr. Hugh J. Davis, to effect a division among his legatees, I shall sell to the highest bidder, on the 15th day of November, 1866, at his late residence, in the town of Warrenton, N. C., the DWELLING HOUSE and LOT. Also a Lot in front of Dwelling, and a Lot adjoining the Court-House square; and a tract of Land about two miles distant from Warrenton.

The Dwelling is in cottage style, containing ten rooms, and has two basements. Near the centre of the town, surrounded by magnificent oaks, it is in one of the handsomest locations in Warrenton, on a lot of about four and a half acres, having an ample yard and garden well inclosed, with Stables, Kitchen, Smoke House, Dairy, Carriage House, Corn Crib, Servants' House, two good Offices in the yard, a well of excellent water, and is bounded by four streets. This square is sufficiently large, and so arranged as to be divided into two beautiful Building Lots, fronting towards the main part of the town. The Lot in front of the Dwelling is enclosed, contains over an acre, without any building, and is bounded by three streets.

The lot in rear of the Court-House fronts on the street about one hundred and ninety-two (192) feet, and contains about three-fourths of an acre. This lot has a Store, with several rooms, at the north corner, a residence in the centre, with several rooms, and an office with two rooms at the south end.

The tract of Land contains two hundred and eleven acres, in original growth partly, but mostly in second growth pine, and is situated on both sides of the main road to Clark's Bridge. Being so near Warrenton by a good road, this tract is valuable for its fire wood, having been reserved for this purpose, but would make a nice farm.

Possession of Dwelling and Lots given on first of January, 1867, and the tract of Land given up at sale.

TERMS—On the Dwelling, five hundred dollars cash, and on that and the rest of the property a credit of twelve months, from day of possession. Bonds, with satisfactory security, required, and title withheld until payment. Inquiries answered.

Ex'r Dr. H. J. Davis.

THE NATIONAL UNION BUSINESS COLLEGE

WASHINGTON. D. C,

Offers superior advantages for a thorough Business Education.

The course of instruction embraces Commission, Importing, Jobbing, Retailing, Bank and other Bookkeeping, Commercial Law, Arithmetic, Correspondence, Spencerian Penmanship and Business Practice.

PENMANSHIP is taught by Henry C. Spencer, the leading author of this system, and celebrated as the Editor of the "Spencerian Key to Practical Penmanship," adopted by nearly all first class Colleges as the standard of criticism. Unsurpassed facilities are here presented for acquiring this valuable art.

The system of "BUSINESS PRACTICE," originated and successfully taught by the Proprietor, receives his special attention. This is the most valuable part of the course. Here the student applies his theoretical knowledge. He buys and sells representative rnds, makes out notes, drafts, invoices, &c., deposits College money in the Collegiate Bank, and checks it out as his business requires. Becoming, in turn, Retailer, Wholesale, Forwarder, Banker, he soon acquires a knowledge of business forms, learns to compose and condense the history of every transaction and thinks for himself. He is thus prepared for actual business.

Full scholarship, good for review at any time, with Life Membership in this Union of Colleges extending to the principal cities, only $45. Books and stationery extra.

For circulars giving full information, for specimens of Penmanship, of the College currency and merchandise.

(Formerly HATHAWAY & Co., Importers of MOLASSES and SUGAR, Wilmington, N. C.)

Shipping and Commission Merchants,

171 PEARL STREET, NEW YORK.

We solicit consignments of Cotton, Naval Stores, Sheetings, Yarns, Tobacco, and other Southern Products, to the sale of which our prompt personal attention will be given. We will make liberal advances upon receipt of Invoice and Bill of Lading. All Merchandise and Produce shipped to us for sale are insured from point of shipment, with or without advice. Invoices should always accompany each shipment.

Both of us having had over twenty years' experience in business in the South, and our J. L. HATHAWAY three years in New York, we feel confident we can secure full prices for our friends who will favor us with their consignments.

1866. FALL TRADE 1866.

M'ILWAINE & CO.,

WHOLESALE DEALERS IN STAPLE & FANCY DRY GOODS.

No. 79 Sycamore Street,

Petersburg, Virginia,

TAKE PLEASURE IN INFORMING THEIR friends and the trade generally that the steady increase of their business has rendered it necessary for them to add two rooms to their Dry Goods Department, together with a large and convenient entrance from Tabb street, which arrangement gives them a most spacious Sales-room, well lighted, and enables them by this increased accommodation to add largely to their Fall Supply.

They beg leave to invite particular attention to their extensive assortment of

Ready-Made Clothing,

made to order under the supervision of Mr. A. S. SHAFER, whose long experience in this department of business, in this city, has made him familiar with the wants of Merchants in Virginia and North Carolina. Anticipating a heavy Trade this Fall, their stock will be found unusually large, embracing a general assortment of

American and Foreign

STAPLE AND FANCY DRY GOODS,

together with a full line of

which having been purchased for cash, they have no hesitation in saying to the Trade, that they are prepared to offer such inducements as will insure satisfaction.

Capt. EDWARD GRAHAM and Mr. JOHN McNEECE have charge of this Department, and will be pleased to exhibit our stock to buyers visiting this market.
